THE weather was sultry, and the roads full of dust, when a stage coach came up with a traveller, who was toiling and sweating on foot, "For Heaven's sake (said he to the driver,) give me a place; no matter where, whether within or without, on the coach box or behind the coach; take pity upon me, otherwise I die with fatigue."
"Every corner is already crammed," (answered the Driver,) and you cannot be admitted (cried the passengers) unless you mean to have us all stifled." Alas! (said the traveller) but now I examine things more closely, I would not accept of a place.
To shew you, however, how disinterested I am, and that I can return good for evil, I will warn you of your danger.—The coachman is drunk, the horses unruly, and the axle tree cracked." At first they laughed at him, and disregarded his warning.
But he bawled so loud, and persisted so obstinately in his assertion, that one of the passengers, more timid than the rest, thought they might at least examine the matter, and so stepped out. The Driver, who had assured them that every thing was safe and in good order, was disobliged; and the crafty traveller, watching the opportunity, jumped in the vacant seat. "Drive on," says he to the coachman;
"and give me leave to assure you, (addressing himself to his fellow passengers) this is the soberest coachman on the road, his horses quiet, and his axle-tree heart of oak."

ESOP JUNIOR.

By the Snow Dickinson, Capt. Johnston, arrived at Philadelphia, from London, which he left the 26th of March, we have the following Advice, viz

H A G U E, March 5.
THE Russian Minister hath received the following account from Petersburg, dated Feb. 8. "Our troops have taken many magazines at Crajova, and in all the country behind the Olta, and our detachments have taken post opposite Vidin, within cannon shot of that place, and towards Calafat and Orlova, extending as far as the frontiers of Transylvania and the Banat of Temeswar. The Count de Romanow has published very rigorous orders to prevent the troops entering the Austrian territory. The Turks, which still remained in that country, have passed the Danube at Vidin with the new Hopodar Monolati, so that the poor inhabitants will be secure from any troubles or vexations whilst our troops stay there."

Warsaw, Feb. 4. "It is not only confirmed that a considerable body of Russian troops has passed the Danube, but likewise that it has gained great advantages there. It is likewise reported that the Russians have taken possession of Kaminitz. It is said that the Prince de Repnin will go to Vienna, to execute an important commission from his Court."

Utrecht, March 7. Letters from Tunis of the 29th of January advise, that the evening before, the Bey sent for the Danish Consul, and signified to him that he must depart immediately, his Highness having declared war against the King of Denmark his master. The Consul not being in a good state of health, desired he might be allowed some time to prepare for his departure, which it was not doubted would be granted. These letters add, that the Algerines were supposed to be authors of this rupture.

From the Consulate of Russia, Feb. 7. The Court is determined not to conclude any negotiation of peace with the Porte, but on the preliminary condition, scilicet que non, that the Russian empire shall immediately, and for ever, possess the Crimea, Taman in the strait of Caffa, Afok at the mouth of the Don, Kimburn at the mouth of the Dnieper, Osnabow opposite Kimburn, Akerman or Bialogrod at the mouth of the Dniester, Kilia Nova near the mouth of the Kell, Ismail on the lake Kulugheri, Tamarow opposite Ismail, Ysaccia nearly opposite the same place beyond Kell, and three islands in the Archipelago.

Stockholm, Feb. 23. Gustavus, eldest son of our late King, has been this day acknowledged, by the Senate, King of Sweden, of the Goths, and of the Vandals, &c. and his advancement to the throne was immediately after proclaimed by a Herald in all the usual places of this city. The Baron Oernfeld, Chamberlain, sets out this evening for Paris, to prepare our new King for receiving the news of the death of the King his father, which will be carried by a cabinet courier.

Genoa, Feb. 14. Our last advices from Spain tell us, that the Catholic Majesty had actually, in his several ports, 38 ships of the line ready for sea, one of 122 guns, seven of 80, forty-two of 70, and eight of 64; twenty-three frigates, five bomb-shells of 22 cannon, and three of 24, besides a proportionate number of transports.

Ferrara, Feb. 25. Some letters from Venice advise, that Macco and Gadda had again fallen into the hands of the Grand Signor, and that Ali Bey, the new Sultan of Egypt, had been assassinated by his own troops; also that the Russians, having made a fresh descent on the Moravia, the carnage and fright had driven the inhabitants again from their dwellings, to seek refuge they knew not where.

Paris, Feb. 25. The Comptroller-General hath suppressed the pensions which the Ministry had formerly granted, on the Royal Treasury, for different services, to divers Members of the dissolved Parliament. These pensions form an object of 1,500,000 francs per annum.

Leghorn, Jan. 26. Letters from the Archipelago advise, that the Turks daily receive reinforcements from the coast of Berbary; and that a fleet, composed of several ships from Tunis, Morocco, and Algiers, has already passed the Straits of the Dor-danelles. On advice of this the Russians at Messina, and other ports in the Mediterranean, prepared to follow them.

L O N D O N,

Feb. 26. Letters from Lisbon mention, that a report pre-valled there, of a secret treaty having lately been concluded between the Courts of France and Portugal, highly advantageous to the commercial interests of the former.

Lord Chatham it is reported, has got into the light of some very material circumstances relative to the late negotiation with the Court of Spain, communicated to him by a person of very high rank, (not in this kingdom) who has always held the abilities of his Lordship in the highest esteem.

A certain witty Earl was lately offered the government of a neighbouring kingdom, which he repeatedly declined, with proper acknowledgments for the favour intended him; the Minister, however, still continued to press it upon him most strongly, and told him, at last, "That he must go there, as the nation was in a flame." "That is the very reason," replied the Lord, "that I will not go; for I'll be d-n'd if you shall burn me in your political conflagration."

March 1. The following very extraordinary and alarming things are said, viz. that under pretence of raising men for the India service, two thousand foreign troops are to be introduced into Britain (that this design, daring as it is to the Liberties of this country, is intended only as an introduction, in some future period, to two thousand more; and this again to another two thousand, and so on, till a number of mercenaries is introduced among us sufficient to render any army of Englishmen totally unnecessary, and sufficient to enable the sons of Despotism easily to perpetrate their worst designs.

Extract of a Letter from Torbay, Feb. 16.
"The Greyhound, Garbin, from Piscataqua to Barbados, was over-set at sea; the crew (being 52) got on her broad-side, where they remained two days and one night: when they were taken up by a French Martinico-man, who put them on board the True Briton, Hall, who is arrived here, about two leagues to the westward of the Lizard."

March 2. By private letters in town, from on board the Dorsetshire, lately arrived, and now performing quarantine at the Mother-bank, we are informed when that ship left the Levant sea, the Russian fleet was in general very healthy, and provided with all necessaries for continuing in the Mediterranean another season, without being obliged to undergo any material repairs at Mabon, or elsewhere, amongst the neutral powers in those parts.

We hear that a body of the Foot guards, now quartered at Somerset-house barracks, are to march to Portsmouth, in order to embark for America.

March 7. The Parliament of Aix, in France, have issued a very short arret, requiring of the King the re-establishment of the Parliament of Paris; and, in case of refusal, beseeching his Majesty to accept of the resignation of their charge.

An Evening Paper of last night, says, A spirited Remonstrance to the British Court is preparing at Versailles, insinuating upon our reducing our naval establishment to the same state in which it was before the late dispute with Spain. This will be, most certainly, refused, and war before the end of next Autumn, must be the inevitable consequence.

Had not the convention taken place, the Spaniards were preparing to besiege Gibraltar with 70,000 men, at the head of whom the King himself, for the greater éclat, was to appear. The fleet to block up the harbour was ready to sail from Ferrol.

March 12. In No. 11, 124 of the London Gazette, published by authority, from Tuesday, March 5, to Saturday, March 9, 1771, was inserted by the King a proclamation for apprehending John Wheble, and R. Thompson, with a reward of £.50 for each. By this proclamation all the King's loving subjects whatsoever, are required and commanded to discover and apprehend the said John Wheble, and R. Thompson, and to carry him or them before some of his Majesty's Justices of the Peace, or Chief Magistrates of the county, town, or place, where he or they shall be apprehended, who are respectively required to secure the said John Wheble, and R. Thompson, and thereof give speedy notice to one of his Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, to the end he or they may be forth coming, to be dealt withal, and proceeded against ACCORDING TO LAW.

March 14. Tuesday in the Lower Assembly, there was very warm work about ordering the Printers to attend; on which occasion there were 23 divisions.

It is said that the bells, if not the greatest authority in the law has declared, that a late proclamation, if not illegal is nugatory.

In opposition to the report which has prevailed, that an out lawry against the Printers would certainly follow the King's Proclamation, it is now said, that the Lawyers have declared, that no such measure can constitutionally be taken.

March 16. The printer of a morning paper is to pay a fine of 100l. and to suffer a month's imprisonment in Newgate.

Four of the printers or publishers of evening papers attended yesterday according to order, and were examined.

Two of the printers who attended were reprimanded on their knees, and discharged on paying their fees; a third was ordered to attend on Tuesday next. Another who did not attend, is ordered to be taken into custody of the Serjeant at Arms for a contempt.

On Thursday Mr. Wheble sent a letter to a dignified gentleman, desiring him to inform the concerned, that "he had laid his case before his counsel (Robert Morris, Esq.) whose opinion he inclosed, in which he advises Mr. Wheble to pay no attention or obedience either to the Summons, Warrant of Apprehension or Proclamation."

Yesterday at noon J. Wheble, one of the printers against whom a proclamation had been issued, was apprehended, and taken before John Wilkes, Esq. sitting Alderman at Guildhall. The Alderman examined the person who apprehended Mr. Wheble, and finding that he apprehended him on the authority of the proclamation only, which he brought in his hand; and Mr. Wheble, at the same time, declaring that the apprehender had forcibly detained him, and brought him there; the Alderman immediately discharged him, and bound him over to prosecute his accuser: He afterwards gave a certificate for entitling the apprehender to the reward from the Lords of the Treasury, as the proclamation directs.

Last night, about seven o'clock, R. Thompson, Printer of the Gazetteer, was apprehended at his own door, in Newgate-street, and carried before Mr. Alderman Oliver, at the Mansion-house, as being the Person described in his Majesty's Proclamation; but not being accused of having committed any crime; he was discharged, and set at liberty. The man who had apprehended him, then desired a certificate of his having acted in pursuance of the Proclamation, in order to obtain the reward of 50l. which was immediately granted him.

Yesterday in the afternoon, Mr. Miller, Printer of the London Evening Post, was taken into custody by a messenger from the House of Commons; and on his refusing to go with him, the messenger took him by the arm; upon which a constable was sent for, and Mr. Miller gave him charge of the messenger for assaulting him in his own house; whereupon he was carried to the Mansion-house, and at half past six o'clock came on a hearing before his Lordship, Aldermen Wilkes and Oliver.

In the mean time the Serjeant at Arms being informed of this transaction, came to demand the bodies of the messenger, and of Mr. Miller; upon which the Lord Mayor asked the messenger, if he had applied to a magistrate to back the warrant, or to any peace-officer to assist him; he replied in the negative. His Lordship then said, that so long as he was in that high office, he looked upon himself as a guardian of the liberties of his fellow citizens; that no power had a right to seize a citizen of London, without an authority from him, or some other magistrate; and that he was of opinion, the seizing of Miller and the warrant were both illegal; he therefore declared Miller to be at liberty, and proceeded to examine witnesses to prove the assault on him by the messenger; which being done, his Lordship asked the latter, whether he would give bail, if not, he should be committed to prison; he at first refused, but the commitment being made out, and signed by the above magistrates, the Serjeant at Arms said, that he had bail ready for him; and two sureties were bound in 20l. each, and the messenger in 40l. for his appearance at the next session at Guildhall. The Lord Mayor told the Serjeant at Arms, that he was surprised he should trifle with him, and not give bail at first; he replied, that he had done no more than his duty.

Yesterday the House of Commons ordered the Lord Mayor to attend, in his place, this day to answer for his conduct on a late occasion; and his Lordship, notwithstanding he has been confined for 16 days, with a severe fit of the gout, and is still much indisposed, is resolved to be there, tho' he should be obliged to be carried in a litter.

SIR, London, March 20, 1771.
"I this Morning received an Order, commanding my attendance this Day in the House of Commons. I observe that no notice is taken of me in your Order as a Member of the House, and that I am not required to attend in my Place. Both these Circumstances; according to the settled Form, ought to have been mentioned in my Case, and I hold them absolutely indispensable. In the Name of the Freeholders of Middlesex I again demand my Seat in Parliament, having the Honour of being freely chosen by a very great Majority, one of the Representatives for the said County. I am ready to take the Oaths prescribed by Law, and to give my Qualification as Knight of the Shire. When I have been admitted to my Seat I will immediately give the House the most exact Detail, which will necessarily comprehend a full justification of my Conduct relative to the late illegal Proclamation, equally injurious to the Honour of the Crown, and the Rights of the Subject, and the Business of the Printers. I have acted entirely from a Sense of duty to this great City, whose Franchises I am sworn to maintain, and to my Country, whose noble Constitution I reverence, and whose Liberties, at the Price of my Blood, to the last Moment of my Life, I will defend and support.

I am, Sir, your most humble Servant.

JOHN WILKES.

Right Hon. Sir Fletcher Norton, Knight.

Yesterday a court of common-council was held at Guildhall, pursuant to summonses issued by the Lord Mayor on Monday. The resolution was, "That the thanks of this court be given to the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor, and the Aldermen Wilkes and Oliver, for having on a late important occasion, supported the privileges and franchises of the city, and defended our excellent constitution." It was afterwards ordered to be signed by the town-clerk, and a copy delivered to each of them.

BOSTON, May 9.

This Morning arrived the Lydia, Capt. Hood, and the Paoli, Capt. Hall, the last in but five weeks from London, by whom we have the following Advices, viz.

LONDON, March 29.

ABOUT three o'clock in the morning the debates in the House of Commons ended, when Richard Oliver, Esq. Alderman and Member of Parliament for the city of London, was ordered to be sent to the Tower, but was indulged to lie at his own house in Fenchurch-street, where the Serjeant at Arms attended between the hours of seven and eight o'clock, and conducted him to the above Prison.

The numbers on this last Question are said to have been 138 Ayes to 83 Noes.

Lord Temple, and a great number of the Nobility, and Members of the House of Commons, visited Mr. Oliver in the Tower.

MARCH 27. This day the Right Hon. the Lord Mayor of the City of London, went from the Mansion house about one o'clock, (accompanied by the Committee) to attend in place in the House of Commons, pursuant to order. He was accompanied, as on Monday, by an amazing number of people, who seemed anxious to know the issue of the affair.

The Justices and High and Deputy Constables of Westminster were all attending, and the Guards, both horse and foot, were ordered to be in readiness, in case any tumult should arise.

The members resolved, "that the proceedings of the Lord Mayor, in discharging Miller, and committing the Messenger, was a breach of privilege of that House." A motion was then made, that the Lord Mayor should for his contempt be committed to the custody of the Serjeant at Arms, but upon his Lordship's observing, that if any offences had been committed, he was the greatest offender, and that he longed to join his brother in office; an order was signed for his commitment to the Tower, permitting his Lordship to sleep that night at the Mansion house.

March 28. About four o'clock in the morning, the Rt. Hon. the Lord Mayor arrived at the Tower, and was lodged at Mrs. Bradshaw's, on the parade, next door to the Bloody Tower. His Lordship, notwithstanding his indisposition, was in great spirits.

Mr. Alderman Wilkes followed the Lord Mayor in Mr. Reynold's coach, with him and another Gentleman to Palace Yard, and then returned to the City.

March 29. Mr. Wilkes, when he went to the House of Commons yesterday, designed only to attend the Lord Mayor on his way. When his carriage reached St. Martin's Lane, the populace took off the horses, and drew it to the King's Arms Tavern, Palace-Yard.

The crowd was so great yesterday in Old Palace Yard, and Westminster Hall, that it was with the greatest difficulty many of the members, especially the Court party, got to the House of Commons; Lord North had his chariot glasses smashed to pieces, as well as his carriage; his wrist was cut; and the mob also took off his hat and cut it into pieces, and he narrowly escaped with his life. The two Mr. Foxes, and Mr. Hans Stanley, were greatly insulted and pelted with mud; Justice Kelynge attempted to read the proclamation, but was so pelted that he was obliged to desist; two hundred constables could not keep the populace in order, for on their endeavouring to keep the peace, the mob seized their staves, and broke them to pieces: As soon as a Member's coach appeared, they stop it, and obliged the coachman to inform them of his master's name, and they were treated according as they stood in their approbation, some with hisses and groans, and others with loud acclamations. The Right Hon. Lord North is extremely indisposed of the wounds he received on Wednesday at the door of the House, and is attended by two surgeons and a physician of eminence.

The populace were very riotous yesterday in the Park, and frequently insulted a Great Personage. Among the rest of the expressions made use of on the above occasion, were a number respecting the P— D—; and many called out, where is the Lord Mayor? Set him at liberty: Tower! Tower! &c.

The division in the House of Commons for committing the Lord Mayor to the Tower, was 202 for, and 39 against it.

Extracts from the Speech of Alderman Townsend, in defence of the Lord Mayor.

"Salus populi suprema lex esto, was long the maxim of the Roman Commonwealth; and I wish that it were more attended to in this House. Unfortunately for this country, too many of us are more assiduous to please female caprice, than to satisfy their constituents. Instead of endeavouring to deserve well of the public, they strive to deserve well of one woman, who has, during the present reign, governed this nation."

"Here several members cried out, Name her! Name her!—Why then, if I must name her, her name is Augusta, Princess Dowager of Wales. [Here he was called to order, but he proceeded.] Sir, I am not in a humour to retract or eat my words. That infamy I leave to the ministerial gentry. I am not yet courtly enough to say and unsay the same thing in a breath. Were I such a crouching spaniel, I should plead the cause of liberty but with a very bad grace. I do aver, that for these ten years past, we have been governed by one woman, and that the woman is the Princess Dowager of Wales. If you doubt what I advance, appoint a committee for enquiring into her conduct, and I dare say that you will find my assertion to be a fact."

March 30. On Thursday as the King was going to the Parliament House, a gentleman cried out, "No Lord Mayor, no K—!" The constables took him before the Justices, at Guildhall, where he told them he was a citizen of London, and should not retract what he had said. After a little advice from Sir John Fielding, he was discharged.

Every species of ministerial vengeance, we are told, is denounced by the Carlton house junta, against a popular Patriot, who has lately disobeyed the order of a great Assembly.

Richard Green, arrived here in 44 Days from Londonderry, on his Passage the 29th of March, he spoke with a Ship from Virginia, bound to Glasgow, but did not learn the Captain's Name; and on the 25th April in Lat. 40. Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Newbern, North Carolina, to his Friend in New-York, dated April the 24th.

"By the Time this comes to Hand our worthy Governor at the Head of 2500 Men, will in all human Probability be dealing out Justice to the Regulators according to their Demerits; the Craven and Cartwright County Detachments march from here To-morrow on their Way to the upper End of Johnson County, where they are to be joined by the Gentlemen from the Southward and Westward, his Excellency marches from here the 26th attended by most of the Gentlemen of the Council, and all the principal ones of this Place. I assure you it is very agreeable to every well-wisher to Government, and reflects no small Honour upon Governor Tryon, to see the People so unanimous in joining him without the Assistance of regular Troops to suppress those Miscreants, who have so long disturbed the Tranquillity of this Province, and must afford a secret Satisfaction to every thinking Person in your Place, that so worthy a Man is to preside over them."

loaded at New-

out, on the Pa-

fore they could take down the Main Sail, over-set the Vessel which immediately fill'd and sunk; with great Difficulty they got loose the Boat, and Cables, the Boy, and one Freeman a Passenger got into it, without Sail or Oar, but were soon after taken up by another Vessel that happened to be near, and carried back to New-Haven. But there was another Passenger on board when the Vessel over-set, Mr. Buckingham St. John of Norwalk, who was one of the Tutors in Yale College, where he had lately finished his Education, a young Gentleman of a very amiable Character, and highly esteem'd and lamented by his Acquaintance.
He was seen to take hold of the Rails of the Vessel as he came out of the Cabin when she over-set, but was seen no more till about two Days after, when by the Help of two other Sloops, the sunken Vessel was raised and carried into Fairfield Harbour, when the young Man was found holding the Rail, in the same Posture he was last seen.

A tragical Accident happen'd on Tuesday last in this City, near Cowfoot Hill. Mr. Falkner having agreed with a Man to remove a Summer House in his Garden, one of the Labourers he had hired, being a little in Liquor, as they were turning the House over, went to the off Side, with Design; it is supposed to break the Fall, when the Roof giving Way, fell on him, and instantly kill'd him, without his uttering a Groan.

We hear that the London Capt. Chambers, mentioned in our last, was but 6 Weeks and 5 Days on her Passage.

The Ship Hope, Capt. Davies, and the Dutchess of Gordon, Winn; we hear are to sail this Day for London; on board of the latter, Mrs. Murray (Wife of Mr. Robert Murray, Merchant) and family are going Passengers.

POET'S CORNER.

THE HERMIT.

AT the Close of the Day, when the Hamlet is still,
And Morals the Sweets of Forgetfulness prove,
When Nought but the Torrent is heard on the Hill, And Nought but the Nightingale's Song in the Grove;
'Twas then, by the Cave of a Mountain, reclin'd, An Hermit his nightly Complaint thus began, Though mournful his Voice, his Heart was resign'd, He thought as a Sage, but he felt as a Man.
"Ah, why thus abandon'd to Mourning and Wo!
"Why thus, lonely Philomel, flows thy sad Strain!
"For Spring shall return, and a Lover bestow,
"And thy Bosom no Trace of Dejection retain:
"Yet if Pity inspire thee, ah! cease not thy Lay,
"Mourn, sweetest Complainer, Man calls the to mourn;
"O soothe him whose Pleasures, like thine, pass away,
"Full swiftly they pass, but they never return!
"Now gliding remote on the Verge of the Sky,
"The Moon, half extinct, her wan Crescent displays;
"Yet lately I saw, where majestic, on high,
"She shone, and the Stars were conceal'd in her Rays.
"Roll on, thou fair Orb, and with Gladness pursue "The Path that conducts you to Splendour again;
"But Man's faded Glory no Change shall renew,
"Ah! Fool, to exult in a Glory so vain.
"Tis dark, and the Landscape is lovely no more,
"I mourn not, ye Woodlands, I mourn not for you;
"For Morn shall return, all your Charms to restore,
"Perfum'd with fresh Fragrance, and glittering with
"Nor yet for the Rayage of Winter I mourn, [Dew; "Kind Nature the Embryo Blossoms shall save;
"But when shall Spring visit the mouldering Urn!
"Oh! when shall it dawn on the Gloom of the Grave!"
